EVERYTHING CBD FOR YOUR PET

Have you noticed your pet acting “strange” lately?

There are lots of different ailments that your pet can be suffering from. Distinguishing between what is serious and what isn't, is a stressful part of being a pet owner.

In this eBook, we will take a look at the top 5 ailments that pets suffer from, their signs and how to treat them using CBD oil and treats for dogs and cats.

Remember, this is a guide. Always consult your veterinarian when your pet is showing signs of illness and/or pain.

1. PAIN & SORENESS

Is your pet suffering from visible pain, sprains or breaks? Animals are active, adventurous creatures and don't check to see if something is dangerous before they do it. Pain in your pet doesn't just come from breaks and sprains either, it can be attributed to chronic pain like arthritis. Animals tend to hide any pain that they may be suffering from so how can you tell if your pet is in pain?

Here are a few warning signs:

- Limping or lameness of the legs
- Swelling around the paws or joints
- Loss in appetite
- Fever
- Grumpy
- Sensitive to touch

CBD Dog Treats: Glucosamine is a specially formulated, all natural formula that's specially designed for your dogs joint, bone and cartilage problems. CBD oil and treats for dogs & cats will offer relief for most symptoms and are considerably less harmful on your pet's liver and kidneys than most pharmaceuticals.

2. ANXIETY & STRESS

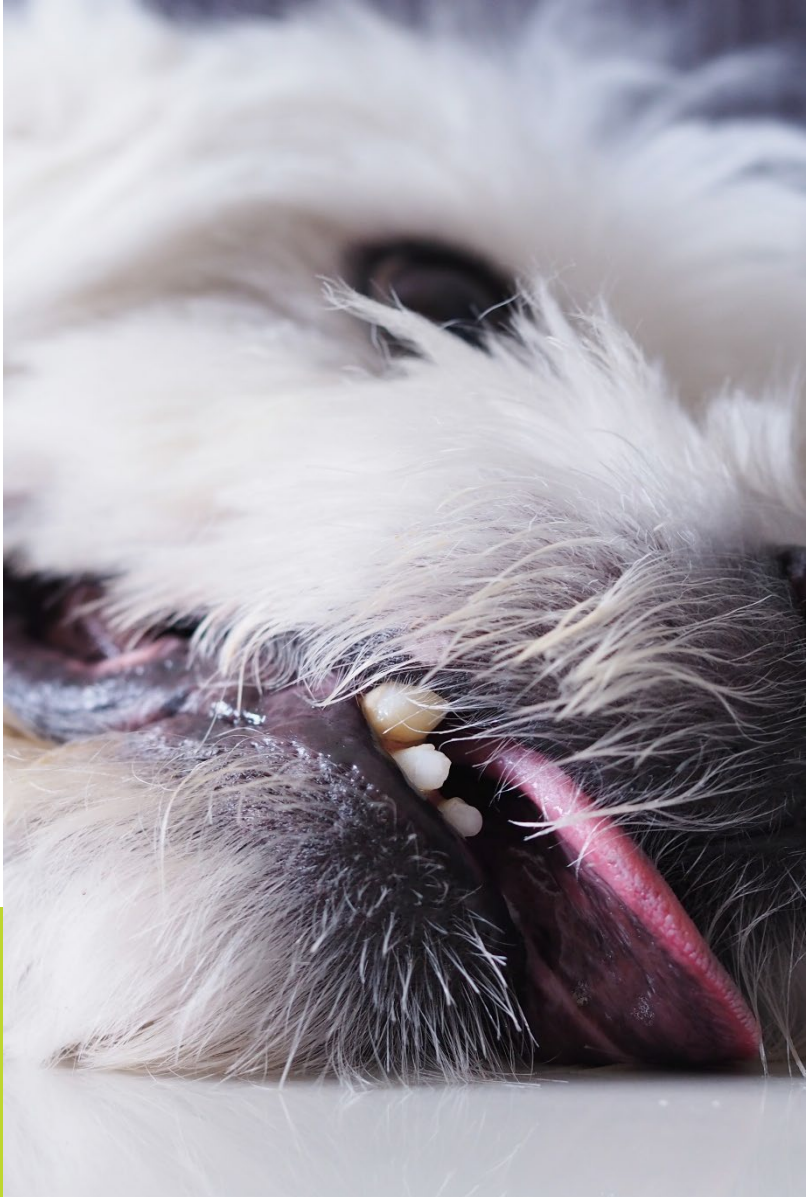

Anxiety in dogs and cats is more common than you may think. Just like in humans, it can manifest itself early in life or, more commonly, as your pet ages. Anxiety doesn't always produce clear signals, but there are some key warning signs you should be on the lookout for if you think your pet may be suffering from Anxiety issues.

Here are a few warning signs:

- Constant howling when owner is away
- Excessive licking or chewing
- Avoiding eye contact
- Shivering
- Panting and/or pacing
- Hiding

While catching signs of Anxiety in your pet can be difficult, leaving it untreated can lead to worsening behavior and aggression. Wild Thing Pets CBD Treats - Calming is a good start and recommended to be tried alongside other methods of calming your fur-baby. Does the Anxiety only seem to trigger when you leave the house? That could be attributed to separation anxiety and could be as simple of a fix as getting them a friend for when you're away.

3. EPILEPSY & SEIZURES

Did you know that epilepsy is an inherited disorder that runs a higher risk in breeds like: Dachshunds, German Shepherds, Beagles and more? An average of 3% of dogs suffer from idiopathic epilepsy and these are some of the symptoms that may indicate your doggo is suffering from seizures.

- Collapsing
- Muscle Twitching
- Jerking
- Tongue Chewing
- Drooling
- Laying on their side making a “paddling” motion

While symptoms of a seizure can be identified by the signs listed above, working in knowledge of their day-to-day may help answer the question of if your pet is suffering from seizures or epilepsy. Has your pet recently suffered from:

- Head Trauma
- Brain Tumor
- Exposure to Toxic Chemicals
- Liver Failure

Studies have shown an 86% decrease in seizures for animals that were given CBD oil for dogs & cats. While the data remains positive for pets suffering from seizures it's highly recommended, that if your pet shows any of these signs, to consult a veterinarian immediately.

4. HYPERTHYROIDISM

Hyperthyroidism is an ailment that occurs more often in dogs than cats. The thyroid gland, in the neck, produces a hormone called thyroxine that controls your pet's metabolism. Hyperthyroidism is caused by the gland not producing enough of the hormone, causing issues with weight and more.

- Hair loss on tail and back of the leg
- Weight gain/obesity
- Dry\Flaky skin
- Black patches of skin
- Slowed heart rate

If caught in time, your vet can prescribe medication that your pet will need to be on for life, but left unchecked could lead to heart problems, organ failure and even death.

5. CANCER

Cancer affects 1 in 3 dogs. The most common types of cancer are canine lymphoma, melanoma and mammary cancers. While CBD oil for dogs doesn't claim to cure cancer, it can assist in lessening the symptoms associated with the disease and the treatment that accompanies it. Below are some of the common signs of cancer in pets.

- Pain
- Swelling
- Lumps
- Difficulty eating
- Diarrhea & Vomiting
- Sudden / Drastic Changes in Weight
- Lethargy
- Difficulty breathing

Considering the wide variety of symptoms that can be caused by cancers and cancer treatment, we recommend a dose of Wild Thing Pets - Full Spectrum CBD Oil, that covers everything from pain to anxiety and cancers.
